About Tree House

In western countries, many people build a tree house in their backyard.

This is usually for kids to play in, but it can also be used as a working space.

A tree house is usually built around branches of a tree. This means the tree must be very strong.

Question:

What else do you need to build a tree house?

About Tree House

A tree house usually has a ladder so that children can climb up.

Some tree houses have a slide or a swing. Kids love them!

Question:

What other things can be added for fun?

About Tree House

Even for many adults, it's cool to stay in a tree house. Don't you think so?

If you are not able to build your own tree house, don't be upset. There are tree house hotels and even restaurants around the world.

About Tree House

Now let's look at some amazing tree houses around the world!

1. Mirror House

Country: Sweden

The walls reflect everything – the trees, the clouds. It is almost invisible in the forest.

About Tree House

2. Plane House

Country: Costa Rica*

A hairdresser bought the plane for $2,000. It cost her $4,000 to move the plane and $24,000 to turn it into a tree house.

* Costa Rica is a country in Central America.

Discussion

- Do you know any other interesting tree houses?
- Would you like to stay in a tree house for your next holiday?
- If you had to live in a tree house in a forest forever, how would you feel?
